

NO PEACE CONFERENCE WITH REBELS PROBABLE

(By The Associated Press)
SAN SALVADOR, Republic of Salvador, Sept. 11.—Advices from Honduras say the American charge d'affaires W. Stokely Morgan, has informed the rebel leader, General Gregorio Ferrera, that the holding of a peace conference is impossible as long as the rebels continue to advance on the city San Pedro, in Sula. The rebels do not seem disposed to an immediate convention based upon loyal execution of the Annapolis peace treaty as they progressed, Mr. Morgan is said to have added.

The American envoy also said he had received word from Washington to the effect that no settlement was reported between the warring factions in Honduras the American government would feel compelled to recognize any rebel government set up by General Ferrera, or to extend it any sympathy or moral support. In conclusion he appealed to General Ferrera to come to terms and negotiate a permanent peace.

Despatches emanating from rebel sources assert that the insurrectionists have been defeated in three battles as claimed in a Honduran government message from Tegucigalpa. The rebels say the so-called battles were nothing but skirmishes between reconnoitering parties.

M'CARTHY NOT JAPAN NOT TO WANTED HERE INTERVENE IN AS HE CLAIMS CHINA'S WAR

enders In Atlanta, Saying Reward for His Arrest Is Offered

Press despatches received here last night from Atlanta, Ga., told of the surrender there during the course of yesterday afternoon of E. J. McCarthy, a formerly of Schoolfield, the name of an automobile from Schoolfield which was mortgaged and who apparently was desirous of securing the name through as saying there was a $50 reward for his arrest also that he had been in Texas and was en route to Danville to surrender when his funds were exhausted.

The local police authorities this morning combed their records but could find no pending proceedings against McCarthy. McCarthy's name was mentioned in just what connection he was uncertain. The fact that McCarthy three years ago lived at Wynn's hotel at Schoolfield resulted in enquiring the name McCarthy in connection with McCarthy's disappearance from that community. J. Wynn, proprietor of the hotel, remembered the name McCarthy but said that he was being sought by the Motor Finance Corporation of Roanoke for the larceny of a Ford touring car. McCarthy's Room at Weaver in Danville until a year ago. He purchased his car it is said on the installment plan and his purchase was underwritten by the Roanoke credit company. He had paid all but $150 on the car when McCarthy was arrested at Schoolfield with his wife and child and disappeared. Mrs. McCarthy did not stay long with her husband but left him and returned with her child to her home in Atlanta.

McCarthy is said to have told the Atlanta police that he had sold the car in Texas for the sum of $160 but that the man through whom he sold the car had taken the car and he had been sought by the White Motor Company. McCarthy is said to have been in Danville and will remain there until officers of the state take action. It is presumed that the Roanoke authorities will take the initiative in bringing about his extradition for so far as can be learned there is no local warrant against the man.

Trinkle Passes Restful Night

(By The Associated Press)
RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 11.—Gov. E. Lee Trinkle passed a very satisfactory night and is suffering less pain from the dislocation and fracture of his left arm. It was said today by the superintendent of the hospital where the executive is confined. The governor was reported to be in much higher spirits today and has been visited by friends for brief periods. Hospital attendants did not expect when he would be removed to the mansion, saying that the governor would probably remain in the institution for several days yet.

TOKIO, Sept. 11.—Japan has no intention of intervening in the present difficulties in China. Baron Kijuro Shidehara, the foreign minister, told the Associated Press this morning when asked to outline the Japanese government's policy in regard to the present civil war in China.

The Baron declined to comment further, asserting that his reply covered all the questions asked including Japan's policy in Manchuria, respecting General Chang Tso-Lin and the south Manchurian railway.

Official statements of Japan's policy of neutrality and non-interference in the civil war in China, regarding reported interchanges between Washington and London respect to China, in which press dispatches, particularly from those London and Tokyo, have been discussed.

Japanese officials earnestly desire to remain in line with the powers although worried over the Chinese policy which very usually affect Japan's position in Manchuria and are anxious to avoid commitments to either Chinese party.

Japanese newspaper despatches from China hint that General Wu Pei-Fu is receiving American sympathy, if not support, but officials say this is not believable. At the same time, the deny that any aid has been or will be given Chang Tso-Lin.

NO CAUSE FOR ANXIETY
(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Any anxiety in Tokyo that the Washington government is feeling its way toward some new agreement among the powers interested in China, for the present, is wholly without foundation.

The Washington government not only has no intention of canvassing for foreign capitals in relation to the present situation in China, but it has not been advised by any American diplomatic representative that there have been any conversations of such a character with any of the various foreign officers.

So far the Washington knows, therefore, there is no project in contemplation of the existing situation in China with regard to the protection of foreign lives and property in that country.

Chilean Cabinet Resigned Today

(By The Associated Press)
SANTIAGO, Chile, Sept. 11.—The civilian members of the Chilean cabinet resigned today.

The present Chilean cabinet was installed late last week after the military group demanding reforms of the government had brought about the resignation of the old cabinet, a new one headed by General Luis Altamirano, minister of the interior, partially military and partially civilian, being installed. Upon the withdrawal of President Alessandri from exercising the functions of his office, which has been followed by his departure from Chile on a six months leave of absence, the executive reins were taken over by General Altamirano as vice president under the constitutional procedure.

Visits Son On Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Nash, visited their son, "Golden Rule" Arthur Nash, Cincinnati clothing manufacturer, for the first time in seven years, to celebrate their fifty-fifth wedding anniversary. The son recently gave $600,000 to his employees because he did not want to become a millionaire.

In New York

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—The Prince is a great guy.

That is the tribute paid the Prince of Wales by his chauffeur.

It probably is the most sincere and dependable tribute paid the visiting nobleman since no man is faultless in the eyes of his valet or chauffeur or masseur.

I talked with the Prince's chauffeur for 30 minutes but he was sworn to secrecy concerning intimate details. Just a good chauffeur.

The Prince appears to be as bored as American crowds are excited to get even a fleeting glimpse of him. He probably would give many dollars to spend a week in a one-room flat in Harlem.

The other day a thin woman with a ragged fur collar and a small child hung before the gate of the Prince's American home. She was Mrs. Katherine Tudor Vermilion who claims to be the last living descendant of Henry VIII of England and the ruling family of Tudor. Admittance was refused her.

At Belmont Park race track the Prince walked on foot and gave his opinion on the horses and the track. The Prince smiled good naturedly and left.

Even a Prince respects efficiency. It reminds of the time in Indianapolis when Carl G. Fisher, famous sportsman and one of the three owners of the great automobile speedway, attempted to walk across the track of his race course during practice.

"You can't go in there," he was told by a guard.

"But I own most of this track," he answered.

"Go tell it to the manager," said the guard as he edged Fisher gateward.

That same day the guard's salary was increased and his future assured.

"Dice got hot," is a prayerful plea of the addicted to shuffling speckled cubes.

But Lawrence Hirschboch warned his dice so much in a game the other day they caught fire and started a blaze that threatened his home.

New York may josh about the wide open spaces where men are men and they still wear rubber collars. But when the wild west riders come here each year for Tex Austin's rodeo the town turns out. The show has just been announced for October 18 to 21.

As soon as the world became well discovered, World's Fairs became popular. Now with radio in the best of the a tinkering public the first radio fair will be held here Sept. 22.

Good Morning Judge!

Mary Carrington, colored, this morning was arraigned in the police court for the larceny of a watch valued at $25. The accused was found guilty and sentenced to sixty days in jail and also fined $10 and costs.

Decision in the case of W. P. Landrum, charged with violating the Larceny act, was reserved until later in the day.

E. J. Holcombe drew a fine of $10 and costs for violating the traffic ordinance.

Kathleen Jones, colored, was not present to answer to a charge of larceny.

The case of Oscar Thompson alias Henry Smith, who is being held as a suspicious character was continued.

Thomas Thompson, held as a fugitive from justice, has been released.

Mother Believes Son Was Slain Aboard Vessel

(By The Associated Press)
NORFOLK, Va., Sept. 11.—Charges that he was not a suicide but was murdered by shipmates for his Christian savings, are made by the mother, at Atlanta, Ga., for E. L. Beard, a year-old seaman on board the United States auxiliary ship Antares, whose death occurred a week ago at Newport, R. I.

NOT READY YET TO REPORT ON SCHOOL SITE

Committee Has Several in West End Section Under Consideration

The special committee of the schoolboard, appointed to make recommendations as to the site of the new Junior High School, will not make any report tonight at the regular monthly meeting of the board to be held in the superintendent's office at Rison Park schoolhouse at eight o'clock.

F. S. Williamson, chairman of the board, said this afternoon that the committee has not reached a stage where it is prepared to make any report back to the board. "A number of sites are under consideration," he said, "but the plans have not advanced far enough to warrant any formal report on the matter."

Mr. Williamson felt it inadvisable to discuss the number of sites on which the committee has its eye, or to define their location. Pressed, however, he said that the committee believes that the new school should be in the "west end" section of the city.

The Ficklen property is not being given serious consideration, it was said some days ago. One or more lots on Randolph street, however, which is not far from the Ficklen homestead, are known to be under critical survey by the committee.

The committee, which is composed of Messrs. Williamson, A. C. Conway, C. G. Harrison, J. H. Winkler and H. E. Phillips.

No other matter of outstanding importance is due to come up at tonight's meeting and only routine matters are likely to be presented. Little or nothing is being done on the building plans at the present time as there is no need in view of the involved legal complications which has entailed the bond issues.

The identity of the school architect to be associated with Heard and Chesterman has not yet been determined upon, it is said.

Rail Heads to Attend Launching of New Steamer

(By The Associated Press)
NORFOLK, Va., Sept. 11.—Launching at Newport, N. H., October 16, of the new steamer E. Lee, second of the Old Dominion Steamship company's new coastwise liners, will be the occasion for the greatest gathering of ranking railroad officials held on Hampton Roads in years.

H. L. Ferguson, president of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock company, which is also conducting work on the new steamer, will attend the launching of the Lee and expect to be in Washington later.

The launching of the Lee is expected to be completed several weeks earlier than expected, and will be on the run from Norfolk to New York early next month.

Judge Refuses to Issue a Warrant For Firpo's Arrest

(By The Associated Press)
NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 11.—Federal Judge Runyan today refused to issue a warrant for the arrest of Luis Angel Firpo.

Application for the warrant was made yesterday by Herbert Clarke Gilson, counsel for a Jersey City religious and civic society, who charged Firpo, who meets Harry Wells in a bout tonight with transporting a woman from Atlantic City to New York shortly before his championship battle with Jack Dempsey a year ago.

TEACHERS DECIDE TO MOLD CHILDREN TO COMMUNISM

(By The Associated Press)
PARIS, Sept. 11.—The United Federation of School Teachers of France, in session in this city, has resolved that school children be taught revolutionary principles.

In the discussion that preceded the vote a different group declared that teachers should take matters in their own hands and begin their class strife propaganda with the little ones, discarding old text books, and bringing the children to understand that modern society is filled with the germs of injustice.

The federation comprises about 4,000 teachers who previously belonged to the federation which affiliated with the French Federation of Labor and which separated from that body when the communists split with the Socialists.

TO ASK HAYES TO ESTABLISH BUREAU HERE

Motor Dealers Say Sub-Office in Danville Will Cut Through Red Tape

In an effort to bring relief to local motor dealers who continue to complain about the maze of red tape which all car sellers must unwind before they can turn over a newly-bought car to a purchaser, the Chamber of Commerce is endeavoring to prevail on State Motor Vehicle Commissioner Hayes to establish in Danville a sub-office of his department where immediate results can be secured and thus obviating the delays which purchasers and sellers of cars are experiencing.

Secretary E. R. Diggs will see Mr. Hayes at Norfolk next Monday and will put before him the Danville situation and make a personal request that he station a deputy here where not only tags can be secured but where the purchasers of cars can comply with the registration features of the motor law and walk out of the local office with his sheet of credentials authorizing him, or her, to take possession and drive the newly-purchased machine.

Motor dealers all concur in the plan and believe it will be beneficial in many ways. It will expedite the sale of cars, eliminate the necessity of keeping cars locked up in garages until the law has been complied with and probably reduce the number of arrests which traffic officers are compelled to make when they see the law violated.

Location of such an office in Danville for the benefit of car owners in this entire district would bring many people to Danville to comply with the formalities of the new law.

HARRIS WINS IN GA. PRIMARY

Overwhelms Hardwick in Race For United States Senator

(By The Associated Press)
ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 11.—Overwhelming his opponent, former Senator C. G. Edwards, Harry B. Harris yesterday swept through the Democratic primary and this morning, with one county reported tied, according to unofficial returns, from all but 22 counties, was assured of renomination to the Senate. Senator Harris had credit 129 counties with 420 county unit votes against eight counties with 18 county unit votes for Hardwick.

The early hours of last night indicated the way the senatorial race was running and before midnight Senator Harris had received more than a majority. The senator is completing his first term. He defeated Hardwick in 1918 in the senatorial race.

In the congressional districts where there was opposition, according to the figures compiled early this morning, C. G. Edwards was leading Representative R. L. Moore in the first district 12 county unit votes to eight. In the second district E. E. Cox was leading Frank Parks incumbent, by nearly thousand popular votes. Representative Charles Brand maintained a lead of several hundred over Frank E. Holden in the eighth and in the ninth district Thomas M. Bell had 12 county unit votes to none yet reported for S. G. Brown, his opponent.

WEEKS EXPLAINS PURPOSE OF DEFENSE DAY PROJECT

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Text of defense plans scheduled for tomorrow will be only a "televised" picture of what an actual expansion would mean, Secretary Weeks said today in a final statement explaining the origin and purpose of Defense day project.

Actual mobilization, he added, must be preceded by a prolonged and progressive process with the increase of the army to its war footing proceeding in successive mobilization in order of the regular army, national guard and organized reserves. No practicable way of conducting a test of that nature could be devised, he pointed out, and the one day test in which the preliminary operations of all three phases of the defense plan should be consolidated for a simultaneous partial tryout afforded the only method by which needed information as to their soundness could be obtained.

The war secretary said that in actual war emergency any attempt at simultaneous mobilization would be prohibited by shortage of equipment. He added that an actual, progressive mobilization "cannot be demonstrated in a day."

"It is desirable that the public recognize," Mr. Weeks said, "the fact that a large expansion of our skeleton forces must extend over a period of months and that Friday's demonstration will be telecast to a certain extent."

Colonial precedent for such a movement as the defense test existed, Mr. Weeks said, in colonial times "all able bodied citizens, on a day set aside for the purpose, reported with their rifles to the nearest village and drilled upon its common."

Mr. Weeks described the defense test as a rehearsal of the defense system by the department as required by law since the world war. The examination of what had happened in every war emergency in the country's history, he said, had disclosed the system used in revolutionary times.

HUNT'S DAILY LETTER
By HARRY B. HUNT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Two tests of how the political wind is blowing have greatly heartened the La Follette-Wheeler contingent.

The first was the result in the Wisconsin state primaries where Gov. John M. Blaine, bearing La Follette's endorsement, received a vote substantially larger than the combined vote for his two rivals, and La Follette-endorsed candidates for state office took an overwhelming majority along the line.

This, however, despite claims by anti-La Follette workers in the state, was not unexpected. A much more significant test, it is held here, was that of a straw poll taken at the Board of Directors' meeting at George Washington, en route from Europe the last week in August.

To relieve the tedium of the days at sea a "presidential campaign" was pulled off in which the 534 passengers in the first, second and third cabins participated.

Three days of intensive campaigning preceded the balloting. Rep. John D. Fredericks of California was manager and chief spokesman for Coolidge and the G. O. P.

Arthur Mulberger of Wisconsin, former U. S. district attorney, had charge of the Davis Democratic campaign.

Herman Grossman a New York proletarian, upheld the cause of the La Follette-Wheeler ticket.

The voting was by secret ballot, at the same hour in the three different cabins. The result was:

Coolidge and Davis, 342.
Davis and Bryan, 110.
La Follette and Wheeler, 82.

On shipboard this was at once acclaimed as a "sea-slide" for the G. O. P. "Nothing to it," the Republican boosters aboard declared. Three to one against Davis and four to one over La Follette.

Certainly that is what it appears, on the surface. But the La Follette analysts look under the surface and find cause for cheer.

"What proportion of the workers of America," they ask, "spend their vacations touring Europe?"

What percentage of the passengers aboard a great liner returning from Europe would come from the great mass of wage earners and middle-class salaried folks to whom the La Follette candidacy might be expected to appeal. Certainly not 25 per cent.

"In the main such travelers come from the groups which grow rich from the very special privileges which La Follette assails."

"If La Follette can get 82 votes from among a shipload of returning European tourists, he'll run like a house afire among the stay-at-homes."

Taking up the vote in more detail, the La Follette dopesters are more than ever certain they have the right slant on its significance.

Of the 280 first cabin passengers, for instance, only 17 were for the Davis and 212 for Coolidge.

An Intimate Story of Innermost Emotion Revealed in Private Letters

With a queer look at me, Ruth, my husband sprang toward the door. "Here, old man, here's your 'Muvver.' Let her see what a big boy you are. Big boys don't cry. Go over there and tell her how much you love her and how you're going to take care of her when you grow up and love her better than even your father does."

Little Jack looked from his father to me, and with that uncanny insight that children have he sensed that something was wrong. But when he crawled up to my side on the bed, he put his tear-wet face down close to mine, and with his tiny hands wandering over my bosom and up on my chest, he said: "Zackie going to 'tay here with you always. Daddy can go home. Zackie 'tay here."

I brought him to me with such a close caress I must have hurt him, but there was never a quiver of the brave little mouth as he murmured: "I love you best of all."

Ruth, at that moment there was born in me a love that I am sure no child of my own can in any way erase. I felt as though he had chosen me of his own accord, and that with all his little soul he loved me.

"Here, here, what about me?" asked the boy looking at him uncertainly, then held up his face for his father's kiss.

"Leslie," said Jack brokenly, "do you know where we are? Aren't we just entering that beautiful land of 'Beginning Again'?"

"Yes," I whispered as my arm stole around him, "and a little child shall lead them."

But alas how fallible are mortal plans. The telephone, linked at that moment beside my bed, Jack answered it. I saw his face grow gray and stern and you would not think that a man's voice could change as did his.

"Mrs. Prescott is quite ill. She cannot come to the phone."

"But Jack," I said "it's right here by my bed. I can answer it. Who is it?"

Jack raised his voice a little. "Mrs. Prescott is ill. She cannot come to the phone."

"Who is it, Jack?" I peremptorily demanded.

For answer he said: "If you have anything of importance to say to Mrs. Prescott Mr. Whitner, will you please write it to her?"

There was silence for a moment, then again Jack spoke.

"Yes, I am Mr. Prescott."

Evidently Karl was trying to explain. My temper flared. I reached over and snatched the telephone from Jack.

"What is it, Karl, what is it?" I wondered if you had received my letter."

"Yes, I have received it. I'll 'John says you are ill'."

"I only faintly last evening. This morning I am all right. Tell me what you want to know."

POLITE TO PRISONERS

VIENNA, Sept. 10.—When convicts in a dispirited prison near Vienna began to show signs of discontent with their lot, prison officials showed them every courtesy in order to avert a wholesale breakout. Some of the more gentle prisoners, who had expressed a dislike for eating at the table with common thugs, were served in their cells by experienced waiters.

SMART SLIP-ON

A straight, little slip-on made on brush lines is about the smartest frock you could wish for right now. Make this design No. 2195, the pattern for which cut in sizes 16 years, 34, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure, in alpaca, twill, rep cloth, one of the new novelty woolsens, a Roman-striped silk or satin and wear one of the new suede belts with it.

In the 36-inch size, this dress takes 3 yards of 40-inch material with 3/4 yard 36-inch contrasting. For 1/2 size, 3 yards of 40-inch material.

Suppose you had two very beautiful daughters—thousands of people have them—

There would arise almost immediately a dozen questions: What about too much discussed temptations? What about the much discussed sage morals?—But most people know them by heart.

Edwin Milton Royle, prominent "dramatist, author of 'The Squaw Man,' 'Her Way Out' and many others, a dyed-in-the-wool theatrical man, has two very beautiful daughters.

To let them go on the stage—encouraged a stage career, in fact. Why?

How he answers the question in a signed article on the stage as a career, reaching conclusions reached after years of first hand observation.

By EDWIN MILTON ROYLE (Dramatist and Prominent Theatrical Man.)

Believe that every woman should know how to do something the world would not let her do as free as possible from possible vicissitudes, that she may be independent of men and sex.

Now, as to the stage? Have we changed our attitude toward it?

I wasn't long ago when one mentioned either apologetically or with a gesture of bravado that a stage career was being undertaken—with the opposition of both parents and friends of course.

Has that attitude become provincialized although still held by countless thousands? So many popular notions have been kicked upstairs within the past few years though the tradition is fondly nursed by the provincial.

Let's tackle a few of these notions: Stage environment! What about it? It is none too good. But what environment is insured against temptation?

A great city may exercise less restraint than a country town, but there are many who will challenge the comparative per capita morals of the small town will not give you temptation insurance nor will the city. The small town might restrain because gossip raven is so easily.

But this stage environment? In spots and places it is shocking! But does the environment of the preacher protect him? It would seem not, as we glance through the newspapers.

The fact is that preacher and actor or actress are shining marks for publicity. And another thing: almost every other unfortunate woman ever arrested claims to be an actress whether she is or not. Poor thing, she is unconsciously paying tribute to the woman with a stage calling.

She would pose in this little moment as an actress. The poor thing grasps at that which mentally lures.

HELPFUL HINTS

WASH DAY DINNER
On ironing and cleaning days plan to have your main dish for dinner a baked one so that it may be prepared in a short time and may cook while you are about your work.

RUB WITH OIL
After you have washed the tiles on your grate or floor give them an extra scrub with an old silk handkerchief moistened with linseed oil.

BREAD FOR SANDWICHES
Bread for sandwiches should be twenty-four hours old and preferably baked in a long square loaf since there is less waste this way.

And this or gals who would seek the stage because it offers freedom from restraint. YOU WILL NOT LAST. Dissipation is the quickest and surest end to the most promising career.

The stage is an exacting life. I could fill columns with the disadvantages, hardships, disillusionments and dangers. But is any career without them? It presupposes talent, personality, magnetism and they, in turn, presuppose vitality and health. I am not sincere.

The career of the woman is the home they say. But is that career free from trials, tribulations and distress? I need but refer you to the daily divorce lists and domestic tragedies. Does the stage provide more?

As I have said I believe every woman should be as free as humanity possible from men and sex.

The balance, it would seem, is about even.

The stage produces many Maud Adams—a woman who gave all her energies to her art. She might have been a social idol, but she spurned the most flattering invitations and lived alone for her work.

My wife was a distinguished actress, known to the public as Selma Royle. Our daughters, Josephine and Selma Royle, had the shadow of the footlights cast upon their youth.

Even when they were at school they began to plan for the future. The balance, it would seem, is about even.

The younger was but 13 when she made up her mind. I wrote a play for the children to encourage them. It was called "The Sin of Cinderella."

I got a cast of players together, and we rehearsed at our country home in Darien, Conn.

They played a number of Connecticut towns in the piece.

And we have no cause to regret their choice.

As for other girls these things should be borne in mind.

It is not an escape—it is a profession, a career.

It is not a place to fling restraint—it is a place to bring out what art and talent you may have.

EVENING GOWNS

Flesh-colored, chiffon evening gowns with self-colored ostrich and marabou bands are seen in many versions at the most exclusive dancing places.

WINDING SCARFS

Smart women are winding their scarfs tightly about their throats these days, particularly in the evening when tulle is used.

VELVET BANDS

Bias velvet bands are used for trimming collars, cuffs, tunics and pockets.

EMBROIDERY

Tiny Japanese or Chinese figured in embroidery are seen parading about waist bands, hat bands or borders generally.

DELICATE BEADING

Some beading is seen on winter coats, but it is so delicately applied that it looks more like embroidery.

NARROW BANDS

Rhinestones, pearls, beads and sequins are used more frequently in narrow bands or in panels than in all-over patterns on the newest evening gowns.

JUDGE CAVERLEY'S DECISION

The very strength of the defense made for the two Chicago youths who yesterday were sentenced to serve the rest of their natural lives in prison lay in their guilt. Tacit admission of guilt relieved Clarence

Darrow and his associates, of the work of combating the physical facts of the abhorrent Franks' killing and left them footloose to concentrate on the mitigating circumstances. Judge

Caverley declines to admit that there were any, but there can be no question that he was swayed from the direct demand of the law by the ingeniously presented evidence to show the abnormality and irresponsibility of the youths who were victims of that new standard of education which strives to attain super-intelligence.

Viewed through the layman's eye—and the average point of view of any legal case is different from that of the jurist and the trained lawyer—

the Caverley decision is wrong and does not serve the ends of justice.

In Chicago we suspect the decision is dismaying for the brutality of the murder was the crux to a reign of lawlessness which brings its daily homicide and which has caused serious misgivings as to the wisdom of tempering mercy so freely with justice. To the nation generally the decision is disappointing especially to those who maintain that only by the force of severe example can a curb be placed on the reckless abandon with which human life is taken with the common law rule of a life for a life where the murder is proven apparently going into discard.

The heart of the Leopold-Loeb case lay in the fact that the perpetrators of the crime had no motive for life-taking and by their training knew more than the average youth about the fundamental laws of human society. It was a wickedly conceived and coldly carried out intention of robbing a youth of his life—the very kind of murder the law of all lands demands shall be punished by the forfeiture of life of the perpetrator.

In our opinion Judge Caverley's reasoning does not apply. He spares them from death because of their youth

when in the light of modern reasoning they were adults mentally and thus even more prone to recognize the hideousness of their crime than youths of average mentality. It is an unpleasant task to raise a voice of protest when two lives have been spared and we are conscious of the extraordinary burden which devolved upon Judge Caverley.

But we are conscious also of the necessity of measuring the punishment for crime by the yardstick of the law through human agents who supposedly are blinded to the welter of emotional pleas. With murder rampant in this country it is time to get back to the old principle of justice and not to foster the belief that human life can be taken with small probability of the slayer falling through the trap. It is this crowing leniency which fans the spark of evil courage and which clutters up the daily newspapers with murder—

not committed in hot blood—but the cold and deliberate type.

FOOTBALL IS KICKED IN

As the leaves fade and show a promise of bright colors soon to appear, as school bells ring and father begins to worry about the price of coal, the platoon, which, by the way, is rubber covered with horseshide, is booted upon the field of sports. The season is short and vigorous and there is need of haste even in extending a welcome to the masters of the forward pass and the mass for-

The practice gridiron is a scene of bustling activity these rather too warm pre-season afternoons. The grass or clunder-covered ground is cut and torn by cleated shoes, bucking machines are pushed slowly but surely down the field, and helpless dummies swing from their gallows to meet the impact of rushing humanity. Veteran players carefully nurse themselves for future games while youngsters expend their last ounce of energy in efforts to attract the attention of the coach. Drop kicking and drill, relentless monotonous drill, is rewarded by a short scrimmage; then players are ordered to run three or four times around the field before returning to their dressing rooms.

Fresh from shower baths, glowing and happy, and smelling gloriously of liniment, griders walk with light, unwearied step after the first stiffness is worn away. So strenuous and thorough is the training they receive that they can almost feel themselves gaining day by day in strength and robust health.

In the class rooms, on the campus and even in shops and offices, there are guesses on the probable winners of games. Cheer leaders are busy practicing new songs and jingles, and new contortions, to be used when enthusiasm is needed to encourage a losing team or to cheer a victory. The admittance of football to the newspaper sporting pages is a welcome event in the lives of thousands of people. Wait till the captains have shaken hands, tossed a coin and nodded their heads—then let the games begin.

ing to punish themselves.

In a general way the cure of the bilious divide themselves into two groups. The medicine takers and the nature cures. The medicine takers having "guessed they were bilious" or

"reckoned they were bilious" proceeded to take a course of blue mass,

ten grains of calomel, or four common cathartics, or some other painful purgative. They then spend from one to three days urinating, griping, straining, and maybe vomiting—for are they not taking "a course of physic for biliousness, and it is commonly known that taking a course of medicine for this purpose is a painful, disabling experience.

None of this for the nature cures.

They do not take medicine. Instead they fast painfully for three days. A course of fasting is about as disabling, painful and uncomfortable as a course of physic. Therapeutically, fasting is the more powerful agent.

At least Morgagni seems to think so,

and he is an authority on the science of fasting, although he does not believe in the nature cure cult.

It is significant that both of these methods of curing so-called biliousness "punish the flesh." Both of them originated in a day when the mind of man could not have faith in a method of cure that did not punish the flesh. The rare that scientists emphatic blood-letting, blistering, scarification, setons, purges, and pukes. In most fields the painful methods have been eliminated a long time ago. They have been replaced from the treatment of biliousness

by a person feels heavy, has a disturbed head, and a coated tongue, and concludes therefrom that he is bilious, the taking of a simple laxative or the use of a cathartic may be justified. Likewise a fast of a day or two, or three days of light diet going beyond that is an unnecessary punishment of the flesh.

A far better plan is to adjust one's habits so as to prevent biliousness from occurring. It is not a one's work, and exercise, a daily horseback ride, game of tennis or

DAILY PUZZLE

A sorcerer was dividing a number of soldiers. He found that if he lined them up three in a row, there would be one over; four in a row, two over; five in a row, three over; and if six in a row, he had four over. The total number of soldiers was less than 100. How many soldiers did the sorcerer have?

The problem is solved by process of elimination. Five cubes, each equalled 2 cubes, 6 cubes. Eliminate 4 cubes and 3 cubes from each side, and 2 cubes will balance 3 cubes. Thus 12 cubes will balance 6 cubes.

Yesterday's answer: If five cubes and three cones balance three cubes and six cones, twelve cones will be required to balance eight cubes.

COMEDY FEATURES LAST GAMES IN THE PIEDMONT-LEAFS LICK HIGH POINT

HIGH POINT, Sept. 10.—Danville got twenty-three hits off Eldridge and Frenick this afternoon and defeated High Point in the last game of the Piedmont season by the score of 15 to 5. The visitors scored on seven hits off Arthur, but managed to score only five runs. The game was a farce. The pitchers apparently didn't try and the batters of course took advantage of their opportunity. When a player got a hit, the locals—they would get caught off the base. In the eighth inning G. Thrasher, L. Thrasher and Meekin all singled in succession and L. Thrasher stole a base and still nobody scored. Townsend got two home runs tying with Dave Harris who got one today, each having twenty seven for his season. Townsend's first homer came in the second with Allison on. His second four ply swat came in the ninth with Schmidt on. Especially the Danville players fattened their batting averages. Trefry, Staley, and Ernest all got four hits each, and each of the others except Arthur got two or three.

BULLS-TWINS PUT UP A FAIR EXHIBITION

WINSTON-SALEM, Sept. 10.—Durham, the Piedmont champions for this year, celebrated the final game of the season on today when they overcame Winston-Salem. The line-up of the Bulls was changed almost every inning, most of the players exchanging positions with others. However, Winston presented the usual lineup with orders from Manager Jackson that any man who did not play ball would be fined—and the Twins lost. Mahoney made a one hand stab of Lennox's drive against the fence in the third inning. Mahoney's home came in the first. Brummett hit for the circuit in the fourth with the bases full. Long's home run came in the seventh. It could not well be called anything else. Lennox had switched to right field and was busily engaged in a conversation with one of the score board boys when Long hit a drive out his way. The ball hit the dirt not many yards from Lennox and rolled on. Lennox kept talking and Long kept running. When he got to home again the twas all he could stretch the hit into and he walked to the bench. After the game Lennox wanted to know when Long got his home run. The box score:

GREATEST GAME OF YEAR STAGED AT GREENSBORO

GREENSBORO, Sept. 10.—A farce comedy in six acts, touched with bits of drama, was staged at the Park here this afternoon. The comedy was hilarious and the drama part of it was dramatic indeed, especially when Jinx Harris, who hadn't got but one hit in one time at bat. The bat boy, a lad of 13 years, doubled. It was supposed to have been a baseball game, which Raleigh won 18 to 1, but it was a mixture of all sorts of comedy and mixed line-ups. The clowning began at the very outset and continued until the final curtain was drawn with the last out in the ninth act. There were fielders in the box part of the time, left-handed catchers, left-handed shortstops. The batter, swamped once. Duke Duncan, got a three-base hit in the sixth inning. The ball roared almost to first base. The fielder got the angle and began to run. Duke down but the Duke outraced him. In fact, he was running so fast that he could not make the curve; at third. He kept straight over through the bleachers and over the fence. When he got a chance he slipped through the gate and slid safely into third by inches. Molly Cox got tired of playing first base and went to short. It was so much for the lanky Patriot to stoop that distance and he essayed to pitch but blew up. Molly at last remembered that he hadn't caught any. He tossed the mask, gaining the distinction of being the first of the year to do so.

When Jinx Harris went out to coach, a bench, a cushion and a bottle of pop were sent out to him. Brandon appeared in a chairman's role wearing a straw hat, smoking a cigar and wearing a well-bottomed pants. Umpire Lewis took flight after a fake argument with Carroll, only to appear a moment later waving a flag of truce. Somebody pinned a sign on him reading "Blind, but don't know it." When Lewis called a bad one on Brandon, the player pulled forth a pair of spectacles and handed them to the umpire. He solved the biggest puzzle of the hidden ball war. Brandon pulled frequently. McMahon put the ball in his pocket once to be more effective in hiding it. Carroll on base darted down to second. McMahon tried to test the ball out of his pocket but couldn't. He finally did and hit Carroll on the head. Charlie feigned unconsciousness and when a crowd of players had gathered around, he tore off his third and then for home. In another inning Charlie stole second base, third base and home. He would have stolen first but there was a man on that sack. And after the score keeper had solved the biggest puzzle of the year the box score looked something like this:

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—The prime lure of combat will center the attention of a large part of the nation upon the arena at Boyle's Thirty Acres in Jersey City where Harry Wills and Luis Angel Firpo meet in a 12 round heavyweight battle with a match against champion Jack Dempsey as a prize to the winner.

The fight is scheduled to begin at 10 o'clock (daylight saving time) but if rain threatens, will be thrown ahead as early as 7:30. Fair skies, and a breeze are promised by the weather bureau.
Tex Rickard has apparently won the legal semi-final to the engagement. Judge Ruman of the United States district court at New York ruled this morning for an application for a bench warrant asking the arrest of Firpo on a charge of violation of the white slave act. Ring followers were certain that the latest attempt to prevent the bout would fail. The principals went to Jersey City this morning to remain until time for the battle.

The most colorful crowd which has attended a fight since Jack Dempsey knocked out Georges Carpentier in "the battle of the century" in the same ring three years ago, is expected to witness the fight. The Prince of Wales and international sportsmen from every country may be added to the usual cross section of American life, including an increasing number of women, who compose the typical fight crowd. Especially, monarchs of fistiana, will head the throngs of champions, ex-champions, high lights and dim lights of present and past in pugilism, who gather for the major struggles.

The principals—Luis Firpo, "the Wild Bull" of the Pampas, the Argentine, and Harry Wills, the "Brown Panther of New Orleans," fit unusually well into their roles as gladiators.
Wills, a negro, is easily pictured as a symbol of the savage fadism into a jungle curtain; but no small part of the power in the magnet of this fight will be the spectacle of a giant negro struggling with a white man who represents an even greater throw-back into primitive life.

In this fight it will be Wills who will employ science to evade the savage rushes of Firpo, whose one idea is to crush quickly. It will be the negro who will carry sympathy of that part of the crowd which pities the underdog. It will probably be a brute battle, with science forgotten and the victory to the stronger.

Experts in final published opinions disagree almost evenly upon the result. Broadly, their speculations credit Wills with the superior science and Firpo with the greater power and aggressiveness.

Those who favor Firpo maintain that his sheer force will overcome Wills despite the latter's cleverness. Those who pick the negro declare that the Argentine will be an easy target and that Wills has enough punch to drop him.

Wills and Firpo Show But Little Physical Contrast

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Harry Wills and Luis Firpo will enter the ring for their 12-round bout at Boyle's Thirty Acres today on a comparatively physical balance.
Each will weigh in the vicinity of 215 pounds, with Wills tending to surpass the figure and Firpo to reduce it. Wills, who shares with Jess Willard possession of the longest reach in fistiana, will have an advantage of five inches in this regard, and he also owns heavier arms than his rival, who has the bigger torso. In chest, neck and height the men are nearly alike.

FRANK WALKER MAY GO TO GIANTS INSTEAD OF YANKS

(By The Associated Press)
ROCKY MOUNT, Sept. 11.—Frank Walker, manager and outfielder of the Rocky Mount club, a member of the Virginia League, has been sold to the New York National League club for $11,000. It was announced here today by Walker, principal owner of the local club. He will report next spring.

(By The Associated Press)
RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 11.—Frank Walker, manager and outfielder of the Rocky Mount, Virginia League club, has been sold with the New York Yankees but instead probably will go to the New York Giants, he announced here today. Walker returned here yesterday from New York after a conference with Manager John J. McGraw, of the Giants, and said he expected telegraphic confirmation today of the deal whereby Frank Walker, the Virginia League star outfielder, to the National League champions for an unnamed sum.

The Yankees recently offered Walker a $11,000 contract, but he declined to report after the close of the Virginia League season on September 20. Several days later the Chicago White Sox offered him $15,000 and the same term contract but Walker had not signed with either offer. Walker was with Detroit Americans for one season and with the Philadelphia Athletics for two seasons. He bought his release from the latter club in order to manage the Rocky Mount club.

For the Game's Sake

By LAWRENCE PERRY

(Copyright, 1924, by The Bee)
NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—The greatest blunder in the history of amateur sport. Thus men interested in polo and sports generally speak of the postponement of the first international polo match at Meadow Brook on Saturday.

As will be recalled, it had rained the previous afternoon. But by 3 o'clock the stars were out as ever contributed to September's reputation as a vivid month.

A polo player of the writer's acquaintance thrust his stick into the turf of the field at 10 o'clock last Saturday morning and penetrated only to the top of the turf. In other words, in his opinion, a fast firm turf.

Interest had been worked to fever heat and there would have been fifteen thousand spectators if it was a great opportunity for those who have been working to disseminate interest in this great game. But it was set-slip.

It was a question of judgment, but never has a polo match been so marked for a day later the British four was beaten quite badly by a scratch American team. This naturally affected interest so far as the general public was concerned.

On Tuesday the game was declared on and then off several times before it was finally decided to postpone the first match until Thursday.

Interest may revive and a bumper crowd attend this game, but just now it does not look that way.

Begin Matches Friday to Decide Golf Supremacy

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Members of the British and American teams are at the Garden City links practicing for matches beginning tomorrow, which will decide the year's international team supremacy in golf over the cup donated by George H. Walker of St. Louis as the prize.

Dr. O. F. Willmar, of Portland, Oregon, the sensation of last year's matches, went on to the clubhouse for daybreak by himself getting the range of various holes and practicing pitches to the heavily trapped greens, which Francis Duimet thinks will be the deciding factor in the match as the Americans are prone to the pitch shot in contrast to the run up of the British.

Later Dr. Willmar and W. C. Fownes of Pittsburgh played a practice round with Jesse Guilford of Boston and Bobby Jones of Atlanta. Jones had trouble getting the touch of the greens. He appeared with a set of shallow faced clubs in his bag, in contrast to straight faced clubs Jones has been used with in the north.

After practice at Garden City, the morning the British team went over to the nearby Cherry Valley links. They have decided not to accept invitations to the Wills-Firpo fight to night lest they have inadequate sleep before the matches begin tomorrow. Four two ball foursomes will be played tomorrow and eight two-somes Saturday, all at 36 holes.

'Ray For Port Jervis'

STANLEY HARRIS

Maybe you never heard of Port Jervis, Pa. Neither did we. Until the other day when some relentless historian disclosed the little Pennsylvania hamlet as the birthplace of Stanley Harris, sensational kid manager of the Washington Senators, likely winners of the American League championship.

Harris was born there 28 years ago. He has been with Washington since 1919. Buffalo had him the year before. Prior to that he was with Reading, Norfolk, Muskegon and Scranton.

Also he had brief trials with Detroit and Pittsburgh, getting his start with the Pirates in 1915. He's five feet nine inches, weighs 160, bats and throws right-handed and is one of the most popular men in baseball.

U. S. AND AUSTRALIA MEET IN DAVIS CUP CHALLENGE

(By The Associated Press)
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 11.—America today begins a new chapter in its lawn tennis history when with the breaking up of its successful combination of the last four years it seeks to resist the efforts of the challenge of Australia to carry away the Davis Cup, symbol of international tennis supremacy. Tennis experts gathered from all sections of the country at the Germantown Cricket club, where the two singles matches opening the challenge round will be played this p. m., regard the supplanting in the singles of Wm. M. Johnston, of California, the veteran team mate of Wm. T. Tilden, national champion, by the youthful Vincent Richards of New York, not merely as the result of the outcome of the year's play, but also as a bit of forehandedness. The experts pointing to Richards' playing record, including victories in the Olympic singles and doubles, a triumph over Johnston in the east-west matches and a five set battle with Tilden, and emphasizing the difference of about ten years in his age and that of Tilden and Johnston, professed to see the beginning of the setting up of America's future machinery for defense of the famous Davis trophy.

This will be the eighth time that Australia and the United States have met in the Davis Cup challenge round since the trophy was donated by Dwight F. Davis, in 1900. Australia winning four times and America 3. Gerald L. Patterson, captain of the Australian team, and Pat O'Hara Wood will play in both the singles and doubles for the challengers. In the singles today Patterson meets Tilden at 2:30 p. m. in the opening match while O'Hara Wood and Richards meet at the conclusion of this contest.

"EXPRESSIONISM" IN ART TRACED TO WORLD WAR
BERLIN, Sept. 11.—If the school of painters which now has the upper hand in Germany prevails the artists will have to look for another job in the opinion of Professor Ludwig Justi, director of the National Gallery of Berlin.
"We are living in the age of 'expressionism' in art," Director Justi observed. "That means that the artist does not try to imitate and copy nature, but that he throws upon the canvas a revelation of his inner self. This man of our modern nations cannot the accents of human beings without having and model before them. They say that the old masters used models, and that there is nothing more for the rising generation of painters to do along that line. With the photograph-like portraits that we have of women in every position and attitude, who in the world cares about additional pictures?"

Tobacco growers everywhere will profit by a visit to this exhibit as every section of the old belt will be represented. No charge is made for space in this department. The exhibit is one of the most important features of the Danville Fair, October 14th to 17th—four days, four nights.

GIANTS' DOUBLE VICTORY ADDS ANOTHER HALF GAME TO LEAD OVER BROOKLYN

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—The waters of the flood have receded and the Giants' ark rests peacefully today upon the topmost hill of the National League. Giant rosters, out of deck, predict fair sailing for the rest of the season. But as the Harlem falls the Potomac rises and threatens to float Washington off the drydock occupied for the greater part of four seasons by the world champion Yankees.

A dove bearing a double branch of victory came to John McGraw yesterday and before the day was over the National League champions had strengthened their position in first place to one full game and the Braves were drowned under 22 to 1 and 8 to 0 waferfalls. The Giant total in the first contest established a major league record for the season.

In the first game, as though freed from long confinement, the Giants gambled and cavorted. Frank Frisch got six successive hits and a narrow hit record made by Wilbert Robinson in 1894.

Emil Meusel celebrated his return from the bench with five hits and a pair of home runs. Fred Goetz swung for the circuit. The both bats the winners made 30 hits for 56 bases. McQuillan allowed the Braves only four blows in the second and Barnes and Huntzinger held them to seven in the first.

Brooklyn sailed smoothly as Ehrhardt won his fifth straight game allowing Philadelphia only five hits in the five to one Robin victory. But the double win of the Giants permitted them to draw another half game away from the Robins.

The veteran Babe Adams repaired the broken boom of the Pirate ship and steered it safely from the turbulent waters of the Mississippi with a 3 to 1 victory after allowing the Cardinals only five hits. The Reds hammered Jacobs and Keen in the first innings for all of their runs in the six to three win over Chicago. Donohue pitched well.

Rain continued, to fall in Boston, keeping the Yankees idle but Huggins watched Washington rock in a storm at Philadelphia. The league leaders retained their advantage of one and one-half games over New York but sprung a leak which resulted in the loss of the first game 2 to 1. Heroic work at the pump by Marberry won the second 6 to 5 after McMarlidge weakened in the ninth an dleft the winning run on base. Gray puzzled the Senators in the first.

Detroit's winning streak of seven games was interrupted by the White Sox who slammed five pitchers for 19 hits and a 12 to 8 victory. Thurston held the Tigers although they freely won in St. Louis and Cleveland were not scheduled.

The Sportsman
By WALTER CAMP

(Copyright, 1924, by The Bee)
NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Chick Mehan, coach of the Syracuse football team, faces a big job building up a team this season. He has lost 15 men from last year's squad, ten of whom were varsity men.

However, he has 38 men working out at Bay Shore, Oneida Lake, and among them are the makings of a good eleven. He has a star backfield trio in Bowman, McBride and Foley and a pair of experienced quarters in Captain Simmons and Ackley.

His known end material consists only of Noble, and for centers and guards he can count so far only on Vivaz and Biggs. But he has four sturdy tackles—and that is the keynote position of the modern line—in Waldorf, Starohn, Von Lengen and Ruggie.

Lou Young at Penn is up against almost as difficult a proposition as Mehan is, and he has one of the best line schedules in the country at face. He has lost 12 of his varsity squad, notable among them John Dern, the quarterback. His candidates for this post include Thomas, who really is a halfback; Laird, who ran the scrubs last season; Flues, who was a substitute, and Douglass, a first year man who is reported to be a star in the backfield. The squad numbers some 55 men, including Westgate, and McGraw and also Coleman, who is a fine strapping tackle.

Simple Two-Tube Set

HOOK-UP DIAGRAM OF SMALL DISTANCE GETTER.

BY ISRAEL KLEIN
NEA Service Radio Editor

Alleged long distance records of reception with only one tube, such as Flewelling's from Chicago to Faldhu, England, may be only radio freaks, but there are two-tube circuits that actually prove consistent long distance getters.

Such a circuit is the one to be described today. It is the circuit used by a fan in Havana, Cuba, who has been listening in on the high-powered broadcasting stations in this country with ease, despite the heavy static prevailing most of the year in that area.

It is simply designed and easy to construct. Two honeycomb coils make the antenna inductance. The first tube is used as a stage of radio frequency amplification, and the second is the detector provided with a feed-back arrangement to the antenna.

The aerial should be about 65 feet long and about 35 feet high for best reception with the honeycomb coils provided. However, a total length of 100 feet for antenna and lead-in is the essential to remember.

The parts for this set are:
L1, one 35-turn honeycomb coil.
L2, one 75-turn honeycomb coil.
C1, one .005 variable condenser.
R1 and R2, two 20-ohm rheostats.
Two tube sockets.
C2, one 8 to 15-plate vernier variable condenser.
T, one radio frequency transformer.
C3, one .0022 mfd. by-pass condenser.
C4, one grid leak, varying from 15 to 3 megohms, and condenser, .00025 mfd.
Bus wire for connections.
The tubes for this set are both of the UV201-A, or the C301-A type. For these the B battery has a voltage of 45 volts.

But if a 200-tube is used for the detector, proper connections would have to be made to tap the voltage off at 22 1/2 volts for this unit only. Then, instead of a 20-ohm rheostat should be substituted.

NEW YORK WOMAN HAS JEWELS STOLEN IN PARIS

PARIS, Sept. 10.—The Parisian police were searching today for traces of the pearl necklace, said to be valued at 5,000,000 francs, theft of which was reported to the authorities yesterday by Mrs. M. P. Savell, of New York.

Mrs. Savell is the wife of an engineer resident in New York but now traveling in the southern states.

Mrs. Savell is on her way home to New York from Budapest. She left her hotel in a taxicab Sunday evening her necklace and returned soon after 8 o'clock for dinner. She did not notice her loss until the following morning.

WHOLE PAY FOR BROADCASTING?

According to David Sarnoff, vice president and general manager of the Radio Corporation of America, the radio fan needn't fear a tax or fee for the privilege of listening in.

"Broadcasting," he says, "will be primarily supported by the radio industry itself and from the returns on the sale of radio apparatus. A fair method of determining the amount to be paid by each member, or portion of the industry, will be worked out and this will be based on a percentage of the sale price of the radio devices."

DEFENSE DAY TO BE OBSERVED BY NATION FRIDAY

Rich and Poor, Democrat and Republican Will Walk Side By Side Then

By EDNA MARSHALL (Copyright, 1924, by The Bee)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Bankers and machinists will be buddies for one day again, next Friday. Millions and millions will march down the streets of the country's cities by side, eager to show their patriotism.

Party lines will be swept aside probably for the last time until the battles of November are past. And harmonizing step with step, Republicans, Democrats and Progressives, will sweat a common sweat if Old Sol is on the job, march a common course and wield a common peace-time gun.

That there was no respecter of persons was shown by the camaraderie that sprang up in the battles over the sea. And that peace-time military demonstrations have the same propensity is proved by the array of organizations writing to the secretary of war and the committee behind the national defense test of September 12 to offer their support.

More than 5,000,000 men and half as many women are expected to take part in local demonstrations. The two organizations which last asked for places in the list of those supporting the national movement are the Association of Machinists and the Bankers' Association, according to reports. For despite individual protests, plans for the test have gone merrily forward.

The American Legion will walk with the surviving members of the Grand Army of the Republic and the Veterans of the Spanish War. All lines between the women will be cast aside as well. The Daughters of the American Revolution will mingle in demonstrations with the Women's National Farm and Garden Association, while history teachers will join hands with postoffice clerks.

Letters pledging support of the movement are now being received at the rate of every thousand a day, and already some 300 organizations have sent representatives to Washington to confer about national plans. Declaring Defense Test Day presents an appropriate occasion for every citizen to show his interest in the physical condition. Secretary of War Weeks has urged fathers and mothers to have the physical status of their children investigated, suggesting that medical men in each community as a patriotic service should give advice to their fellow citizens, and set the day apart for examination purposes. "The day would be most of all appropriate for an examination of the vitality of our people," said Secretary Weeks. "That vitality is fundamental to defense and to citizenship, and a successful republic must consider that whatever strengthens its defensive ability strengthens its citizenship."

The officers and men of the army are given a complete physical examination once each year. It is the belief of the secretary that each community should do what the war department is doing for its personnel. Since the defense of the country is on a voluntary basis during peace time, he considers the citizens must undertake to raise their physical standards of their own volition.

"I, therefore," said Secretary Weeks, "ask the citizenry to begin by discovering their individual defects on the Day of Defense Test and to correct them as soon as possible thereafter."

Man Charges He Was Horsewhipped In Office By Girl

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Bearing numerous welts on his back and neck as evidence to support his charge that he was horsewhipped in his office by Miss Mary Milne Hall, an actress, Edward Hurley, press agent for the Pathé film company, today has obtained a summons requiring the woman to appear in police court next week to answer his charge.

Miss Hall, who is a witness against Hurley in a divorce suit brought against him by his wife, admitted that she administered the horsewhipping. She posed for a newspaper photographer with the whip in her hand. Miss Hall charged that Hurley said things about her that were untrue because he was angry at her being a witness for his wife. The actress said she went to Hurley's office, accompanied by his wife and when he refused to retract, she whipped him.

INDUSTRIOUS ESKIMOS VISIT NOME TO SELL THEIR WARES

(By The Associated Press)

NOME, Alaska, Sept. 11.—Every year since 1910, the natives of the entire native village of King Island make a pilgrimage to the city, arriving about July 4 and remaining most of the summer.

The natives, a clean, industrious and healthy lot, make the trip of approximately 100 miles in boats which they build from the hides of walrus. Seven of these boats carry the whole population, including all their possessions.

The King Islanders are clever carvers. Arriving in Nome with several tons of ivory, they carve the sought tusks into cribboards, gavel, fork, knives, spoons, umbrellas, handles, and numerous other things. The merchants and people of Nome patronize them liberally, so that the camp usually collects thousands of dollars during the season, and these profits they put back into circulation by purchasing supplies for the next winter.

STRATEGY WINS AUTOGRAPH FROM RUDYARD KIPPLING

(By The Associated Press)

BURWASH, England, Sept. 11.—"It is not the only letter which is frequently silent in England," "The Bee" is often told, especially in proper names, as Burwash, which is pronounced Burwash.

Knowledge of how to pronounce the name of this town recently won an autograph from an autograph letter from Rudyard Kipling, the most celebrated resident of Burwash. Failing to get an audience with Kipling, the woman wrote a parody on one of his poems and mailed it to the poet. In the parody she rhymed words with Burwash which showed she knew how to pronounce the name correctly and Kipling was so surprised that he mailed her a letter of thanks.

NEW YORK STOCKS

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Stock prices pointed upward at the opening of today's stock market. Pittsburgh and West Virginia common opened a point higher and the preferred sold above its callable price of $105.18. Steel common improved fractionally on buying inspired by the increase in unfilled tonnage. Bear traders uncovered another weak spot in National Enameling which was up 67 points to a new low for the year at 67. The underdogs continued firm through the early trading despite a renewal of selling pressure against the St. Paul issues, the preferred dropping a point and the common half. Davidson Chemical was up 1 1/2 points and Maxwell Union Bag and Paper and Brooklyn Union Gas advanced 1 to 1 1/2 points. Oils gave a good demonstration of group strength. American Tobacco fell back 2 points and Hartman corporation and Loose Wiles lost 1 and 1 1/2, respectively.

Foreign exchanges opened firm and then eased.

MORNING STOCK LETTER.

(Thomson & McKinnon.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Is business getting better or worse? Upon the answer depends whether we are going to have a steady stock market or a declining stock market. For several weeks it has been declining. Does this forecast another unfavorable change in business? I don't think so because I am of the opinion that the present market is under pressure of bearish operators. I don't know who they are but there is every ear-mark of the tactics usually employed by them. I think the recent St. Paul story was a well planned incident in the bear campaign. What is the passing of a dividend by a few companies in comparison with the payment of dividends by thousands of companies? We have a good illustration of the usual bear tactics yesterday on the publication of the steel tonnage. On some good news offer stocks freely enough to discourage buying and invite liquidation. Who's the operator? I can tell them now what the end is going to be. They will make trouble for a while but they are going to get caught in an awful trap one of these days.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

(By The Associated Press)

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 11.—The cotton market opened actively with liberal buying and short covering. Liverpool was twenty penny points better than due and reported prominent operators there heavy buyers. First trades locally showed gains of 44 points on October and December, the former trading at 22.10; and the latter at 22.45. After the first wave of buying was satisfied prices eased off almost as rapidly as they advanced and by the end of the first half hour of trading October had receded to 22.00 and December to 22.12; or 30 to 33 points down from the opening but still 11 to 14 points above the close of yesterday. Early reports claimed that some rain had fallen in the west.

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—At first glance, the Canadian estimate of 22,000,000 bushels for the year is bullish but the market has already had the influence of the August estimate of 25,000,000 and earlier private estimates as low as 22,500,000. The estimate of 22,000,000 for three provinces means around 290,000,000 for all Canada or an average crop for the last eight years, including the phenomenal crop of 1923. The report does not contain the elements of a bullish situation.

MORNING COTTON LETTER.

(Thomson & McKinnon.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Early cables show a much stronger market in Liverpool. A good spot demand is reported but there is nothing in our own markets or in weather conditions to explain Liverpool's strength. Spot prices yesterday were substantially lower. The weather for picking cotton is favorable. The movement of cotton to market will soon assume large proportions and this means increased weight on the market. We can see nothing at the moment to warrant any change in views and regard the market a sale on bulges.

POTATOES.

NEW YORK COTTON.

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Rallies followed yesterday's severe decline at the opening of the cotton market today. Liverpool was decidedly better than due and the local market opened firm at an advance of 14 to 22 points. October selling up to 22 1/2 and December to 22 1/4 on the call. This advance met considerable selling which included further southern hedging, but early offerings were absorbed on moderate setbacks by covering, trade buying and buying for Liverpool account.

There were no changes in weather or crop conditions. There were more numerous reports that farmers were beginning to hold cotton for the market, private New Orleans advices claimed plenty of spots were being offered at present prices.
